

For Immediate ReleaseMatrix Financial Solutions Expands Service Offerings to Include Same-day Money Market Funds

Portal Service can help banks reduce overhead, increase revenue and potentially reduce trade execution risk.

Denver, CO, April 3, 2008 – Matrix Financial Solutions, through its subsidiary Matrix Settlement and Clearance Services (MSCS) has announced the rollout of a new service called The Matrix Money Market Portal. This new service expands the existing MSCS mutual fund platform to include execution and same-day settlement for T+0 executed money market funds. Designed to support daily sweep activity in bank trust departments, the portal employs a series of front-end interfaces with trust accounting systems and back-end interfaces with money market fund complexes.

“We’ve been in the mutual fund processing and settlement business since 1999,” said Cliff D’Amato, CEO, Matrix Settlement and Clearance Services. “Our primary business is the processing of T+1 NAV mutual funds and our core business comes from bank trust departments, third-party administrators and registered advisory firms. Therefore, we felt it was a natural progression for us to enter the same-day money market processing business. In fact, this new service was requested by many of our current bank customers.”

The Matrix Money Market Portal gives bank trust departments the same automation, information and reporting tools they currently employ with the T+1 mutual fund trading service, but with same-day execution and multiple settlement options. Matrix negotiates the trading agreements, opens new fund accounts, and handles trade execution and wire settlement. The service follows Matrix’ hallmark approach of “long title” account registration, allowing the bank to retain full ownership of fund positions.

Benefits of the money market portal service include:

- Expansive list of money funds, with multiple share classes & expense ratios
- Trust accounting system interfaces
- Straight-through trade settlement
- Trade execution, approval & release controls
- Administrative Service fees or 12b-1s available
- Multiple wire settlement options
- Online tools for fund research

“What’s happening is that the majority of money market platforms are targeting large corporations directly and leaving the banks largely under-served,” said John Moody, President, Matrix Settlement and Clearance Services. “We want to give our bank customers the ability to take sweep and liquidity management to the next level, giving them the tools to service smaller public and privately held companies, and do it through the bank branch.”
